

Washington — (NEA) — "Five Percenters" and "Influence Peddlers" who try to obtain special consideration for their clients through government contracts resort to many ingenious and devious practices.

One angle recently attempted was an effort to get a defense contract for a certain company on the grounds that it would help relieve unemployment in a distress area. Basis for this claim was an order from the White House itself, dating back to last August.

President Truman at that time had directed that government departments which do heavy buying feasible to nine "E" areas in which unemployment was more than 12 per cent.

Last February there were 43 of these "E" areas. Today there are only 22, and the next monthly report will show even fewer.

A typical effort to take advantage of this situation, however, has been described somewhat as follows:

A group of promoters, eager to get in on some of the government's expanded buying for national defense, located an idle plant in a distress area. An offer to buy or lease the plant, contingent on receipt of a government contract, was then negotiated with the owner.

A brochure was then prepared, describing all these lovely manufacturing facilities and telling how big an idle labor force was available in the areas. Copies were sent to the White House, the Chiefs of Staff, and government procurement offices. Also to known Five Percenters in Washington.

Five Percenters Must Learn

What Government Wants

At this stage the promoters had nothing to sell. They had no particular experience in manufacturing. They were merely looking for something to make which they could sell to the government.

It is the job of the Five Percenter — the commission agent middle-man who knows what the government wants to buy — to be responsible for finding the promoters a product to make and a contract on which to bid.

New companies entering this field are often at a disadvantage. Filling a first order involves high costs. Established competitors are always in a position to make lower bids. So the promoters and their Washington agent try to have their business put in a special category.

Getting Department of Commerce backing for a small business is not too difficult. Getting Department of Labor support for anything that will relieve unemployment is in the same class.

The government's main protection, and the thing that has prevented many high-cost government contracts being for the relief of small business or unemployment in a particular area is a firm ruling by Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren. He has held that all contracts must be let to the lowest bidder, where competitive bidding is called for. In this he is fully supported by law.

Competitive Bidding Saves Taxpayers' Money

Mr. Warren has approved straining this law on only one point. That is in case of a tie bid. The usual practice has been for the tied bidders to draw lots to see which one got the contract.

Present practice is to give the contract to the bidder whose plant is in a distressed area. But this practice has been followed only once in the past year, in awarding a contract to Kelly-Springfield at Cumberland, Md.

The competitive bid contract is the fairest and best, from the taxpayers' standpoint. But the government does also make "negotiated contracts" and give "educational orders."

Educational orders are placed when one of the armed services for instance, wants to have some factory prepared to go into mass production of a particular product, if and when needed.

Negotiated contracts are made for secret materials. The entire $750,000,000 stockpiling program is done on a negotiated basis. Any would-be seller to the government who can get a contract removed from the competitive bid field and put into either of the other classifications can naturally expect to get a higher price. And that's where the Influence Peddlers and special fixers with a political pull try to do business.

There is no squawk against the Five Percenter who collects his commission for legitimate brokerage. It is only when he goes into the political pressure field that his operations become shady. When some old, established firm in some line finds that the prospect for a place of business disappears in a negotiated contract, its Washington representatives go nuts, though there isn't anything much they can do about it.

Shover Springs Soldier in El Paso Hospital

Freeman Matthews, Shover Springs soldier who was recently wounded in action in Korea, is now in an army and navy hospital in El Paso his parents said today. It was indicated that there is possibility that part of his hands which were badly mangled, may be saved. Barring complications he will probably be sent home on furlough in about a month.

55 Die in Plane Crash, 23 Are Americans

Cairo, Aug. 31 — (AP) — A Trans-World airline Constellation plane carrying 55 persons, 23 of them Americans, crashed and burned today north of Cairo, killing all aboard.

The airline announced there were no survivors among the 48 passengers and seven crewmen. Reports from the scene said the plane was so badly burned that only a small section of it remained intact.

The bodies of the victims, many of them notables and representing a dozen countries were so badly charred that identification at once was impossible.

Officials of the district governor's office in Behaira province played the scene of the crash near El Fay Baroud, about 75 miles northwest of Cairo. Eyewitnesses said they saw the big four-engine "Star of Maryland" falling to earth in flames.

Earlier the district governor's office had held out hope that six of those aboard had survived, but this was dashed by messages direct from the scene, to which rescue teams had been rushed as soon as a TWA search plane spotted the wreckage in the Nile Delta area.

The plane was on a regular run from Bombay to New York. It crashed shortly after takeoff from Cairo's Farouk field at 1:30 a. m. Thursday Cairo time (5:30 p. m. Wednesday, CST).

The plane made a routine report to the Cairo control tower 20 minutes after it was in the air and then was not heard from again. Although the wreckage was sighted from the air soon afterward, ground rescue teams could not reach the scene of the crash until late afternoon.

Five of the crew of seven aboard the plane, bound from Bombay, India, to Rome, were Americans. Eighteen of the 48 passengers were Americans, and the remainder represented 11 other nationalities. Two passengers were Indian nationals en route to a United Nations meeting in Paris.

Another passenger was the Egyptian Movie Star Lillianne Cohen, whose screen name is Camelina. She is known as "the Lana Turner of the East."

The Americans listed aboard included Aubrey William Schofield.

No Man Should Be Called on to Undergo Fierce Combat More Than Once a Lifetime

By DON WHITEHEAD

(For Hal Boyle)

With U. S. 27th Regiment, Korea — (AP) — Combat is a cruel test of endurance, courage, and sanity which no man should be called on to endure more than once in his lifetime — and even that is too much. But many veterans of World War II are facing the test again in Korea.

Most of them went into the last war as youths — fresh from high school or the college campus. Somewhere between Pearl Harbor and the end of the war they lost that youth. They were young-old men.

When peace came they found they had learned a trade that had no market at home. The only employer who placed any value on ability to kill the enemy was the army which had trained them.

These are the men who form the real backbone of the American army fighting to hold off the North Korean Reds until a United Nations powerhouse is assembled behind them. They hold the key spots in companies and battalions and regiments and divisions—these young-old men of World War II.

As examples there are Capt. Earl W. Buchanan of Newport, Vt. and Maj. Harry K. Hauge of Lexington, Ky.

Buchanan is a lean, thin-faced man who smiles quickly even when his face is drawn with weariness and his eyes are red from lack of sleep. He fought through the rugged mountains of Italy and across southern France — 19 long months of combat.

Then one day at Strasbourg on the Rhine a piece of shrapnel from a German tank shell slapped him on the head. He woke up. He found himself a prisoner in a German aid station.

The Germans took Buchanan in

Malik's Rule of Council Ends Today

By STANLEY JOHNSON

Lake Success, Aug. 31 — (AP) —

Jakob A. Malik's month as president of the United Nations security council ends today.

For the 31 days of August the Russian delegate has used the presidency of Hamstringing council consideration of the Korean war and explode propaganda blasts against the United States and the other western democracies.

Observers expect him to fire his biggest gun at today's session but don't know what he'll use for ammunition. They are sure, however, that Malik will not turn over the chair to Britain's suave Sir Glad.

Hurricane Spends Itself, Nobody Killed

New Orleans, Aug. 31 — (AP) — The freakish gulf hurricane, that swept inland last night near Mobile, Ala., appeared today to have delivered its heaviest punch at Panama City, Fla.

No loss of life was reported, and the storm apparently caused little damage elsewhere.

Mayor Carl Gray of the coastal resort in extreme northwest Florida said in a radio broadcast a dock was destroyed by high winds and tides. Several other docks and beach property were damaged. He said 3,500 persons were evacuated from low ground to Red Cross shelters.

A tornado — believed an offshoot of the storm — seriously injured two persons and wrecked a dozen houses at Apalachicola, Fla.

Another hurricane grew in size and intensity in the far eastern Caribbean today. The weather bureau at San Juan, Puerto Rico, reported winds of hurricane force extending as much as 75 to 100 miles east of Bermuda.

The big wind was placed at point about 210 miles east of Martinique in the West Indies.

A third hurricane showed northward in the Atlantic about 500 miles east of Bermuda. Winds as high as 115 miles-an-hour had been reported by the

Motorists Have Narrow Escapes

A series of automobile wrecks near Hope today left at least one person seriously injured but at least a score had narrow escapes.

A car driven by Paul S. Maxwell of San Bernardino, Calif., left the pavement on the approach to the overpass east on Highway 67 about 8 a. m., and plunged down a 25-foot embankment.

The occupants, Maxwell's wife and two children and a brother, escaped with minor injuries. The auto landed on its top and the impact forced open all the doors and the trunk. They were treated for minor bruises and released. The auto was badly damaged.

Austin Smith, Standard Auto employee, was seriously injured early this morning when a new car which he was driving left the pavement at Anthony's Mill, south of Highway 29, crashed head-on into a tree, careened off into a telephone pole, turning over three times before stopping.

Smith was hospitalized with a chest injury. He told officers that he just "blacked out" and didn't know what happened. The auto was demolished.

Earlier today two persons were treated in a local hospital following a wreck involving two cars about 8 miles west on Highway 67. Details are lacking. Given treatment here were: J. L. Naden and Mrs. Ruth Todd, both of Austin, Texas.

to Russia to a prison camp and then into Poland. He escaped from prison just before storm troopers forced one group of Americans to make a winter march. It was a march of death for many of them too ill and weak to stand the hardships.

But Buchanan escaped to the Russians and he made his way home through Odessa months after his capture.

Harry Hauge is more ruggedly built than Buchanan. But in his face there is the same taut, drawn look of the fighting man. Before he took up the trade of the soldier, Hauge was known throughout the south as a halfback for the university of Kentucky football team.

For three years — 1938 to 1941 — Hauge played in the Kentucky backfield on Saturday afternoons and lived the life of a big man on the campus.

But in '41 he joined the army and they sent him to Europe to fight with the 78th Division. After the war in Europe, Hauge believed like many of us that he had done all the fighting that was needed. He looked forward to a comfortable peacetime life with the army.

But Harry Hauge is fighting again. The day I saw him his battalion was in the "bowling alley" — the valley down which the Reds were trying to fight their way to Taegu.

There is nothing unusual about the story of Buchanan and Hauge. There are scores of others like them who are welding this army into a fighting machine.

But it's the Buchanans and the Hauges who have given this army the hard inner core of experience which will mean the difference between victory and defeat. The young-old men of World War II are carrying a cruel burden — but they carry it well.

Yanks Push Back; Enemy Misses Dead

Tokyo, Friday, Sept. 1 — U. S. tanks and troops pushed back the North Korean Red attack Thursday, and General MacArthur's war summary said Allied forces had within 300 yards of the enemy attacked town east coast port Aug. 30.

The Reds were still in the face of light American troops in the west of Pohang.

In the face of light American troops in the west of Pohang, the Reds were still in the face of light American troops in the west of Pohang.

They moved from three miles north of the city to a spot where an enemy unit Thursday had made it into the city.

Army photographer Ray bull of Miami Beach, Fla., said the road reopened, accompanied American tanks and tractors north of the port, returned to Taegu, main ally west of Pohang, later day.

The Reds had missed their deadline — last midnight driving the United Nations out of Korea. It was set by Premier Kimil Sung.

Deep on the south coast, other end of the 120-mile line, South Korean troops reported the capture of large quantities of enemy material, including 500 tons of two weeks.

B-29s Blast Targets in Korea

More than 80 B-29s spewed over 800 tons of bombs on strategic targets in Korea today.

Of the total load, 600 tons were dropped on industrial installations at Chinnampo, port of Pyongyang, North Korean capital. Both cities were targets of raiding plane from carriers yesterday.

The air force announced the B-29s took precautions not to hit the city proper.

Two United Nations planes were shot down today, the fifth air force announced. Both were hit by ground fire.

A Mustang was downed on the western front, southwest of Taegu. The pilot was rescued. But no trace of a marine pilot was found after his Corsair was shot down in the Pohang sector, east of Kigye.

Earlier the air force reported United Nations pilots killed 1,200 North Koreans in two days in the raging battle for Pohang on the east coast.

Four F-51 Mustang fighters were credited with killing 500 Reds yesterday in vicious rocketing and strafing attacks in support of U. N. ground troops north of Pohang and east of Kigye.

Bodies of 700 other Red infantrymen killed in fighter sweeps, the preceding day were counted by U. N. ground troops advancing yesterday west of Kigye. Kigye is nine miles northwest of Pohang, number two allied port on the east coast.

It was the greatest two-day toll claimed by the air force in the Korean war. An air force release added:

"A constant series of low level strikes in all sectors caused other casualties for which no estimates could be given."

Malvern, Aug. 31 — (AP) — Ed Deere has agreed to step out as sheriff of Hot Spring county, and charges against him have been dropped.

Circuit Judge Roy Danuser yesterday dismissed indictments returned by a special grand jury against Deere on condition that Deere — already under suspension — resign.

The order set out that Deere had agreed Danuser ordered a copy of Deere's letter of resignation to Governor McMath filed with the court.

Indictments against Clarence McCarty, suspended deputy of Deere, also were dismissed. Like Deere, he immediately resigned.

Deere sought renomination while the charges were pending, but was defeated in the Democratic primaries by Tax Assessor Roy Traywick.

Deere first was indicted for allegedly neglecting to turn over confiscated liquor to the state revenue department. At that time he was relieved only of liquor law enforcement duties.

Later 35 additional counts charged false pretense and malfeasance, alleging Deere falsified claims against the county for syn Jebb, September president, without one final propaganda barrage.

Malik has indicated he will continue to attend council meetings after his presidency ends. But informed quarters point out that his freedom to obstruct council business will be curtailed with a westerner in the chair.

The Russian yesterday asked that two new items — "unceasing terrorism and mass executions in Greece," and Red Chinese charges of American bombings in Manchuria — be put on the agenda.

Malik, as council president, is expected to give the floor to Malik, the Soviet delegate, for an elaboration of these charges at today's meeting.

The ensuing wrangling, probably will keep the council again from getting down to business on the resolution it is ostensibly discussing — an American motion aimed at localizing the Korean war.

Malik's move to have the council discuss the situation in Greece, where the government suppressed a four-year communist-led rebellion last year, took diplomats by surprise.

The Greek situation was first taken up by the council in London in 1946. It was dropped in 1947 and handed over to the general assembly, where it has been on the agenda every year since.

The Manchurian complaint, however, had been anticipated in connection with Red China's previous charges of U. S. aggression in Formosa which the council voted Tuesday to put on the agenda.

McCarty was indicted on 13 counts of bribery and five of selling liquor.

Arlin Jones, former FBI agent, has been acting sheriff since Deere's suspension.

Deere branded as "politics" the charge against him.

The special grand jury indicted a total of 31 persons for alleged violations of gambling, laws and liquor laws in legally-dry Hot Spring county.

peaceful end to Crete feud is possible

Heraklion, Crete, Aug. 31 — (AP) — A possible break within 48 hours was rumored today in the mountaineers' feud over Crete's missing Romeo and Juliet.

The couple vanished amid the fastness of mythology-famed Mount Ida last week after swaggering Constantine Kephalyonias abducted the sultry-eyed beauty for whom he yearned, 19-year-old Tassoula Petracoorgi.

An obstacle to their dashing romance was the ancient bad blood between their powerful families.

Someone described as highly respected by the two Cretan clans was reported trying to smooth over the fiery animosities. Intensified by the kidnapping, before they blazed into gunfire, there was no confirmation of the rumor, however.

This unidentified person might even attempt to get in touch with the lovers tomorrow, it was said.

Previously it was reported in Athens that Archbishop Spyridon had enlisted the support of Premier Sophocles Venizelos to assure safe transportation of "Costa" and his sweetheart to the Greek capital. Chief Gendarmerie Gen. Emmanuel Samuel was understood to be flying here as part of the plan.

Reports that the couple already were married are discounted here. The Greek Orthodox archbishop on Crete has issued orders against such a wedding in the present circumstances.

Three Arkansans Killed in Accidents

By The Associated Press

Two women were killed in a rail crossing accident and a man died in a three-car highway crash in Arkansas Wednesday.

Another man was electrocuted accidentally.

The women victims were Mrs. Frances Jarrigan, 30, a nurse, and Miss Ruth Taylor, 28, both of Piggott. Their automobile, driven by Miss Taylor, collided with a Cotton Belt freight train at a Piggott crossing as they were on their way home from Piggott hospital, where both were employed.

E. F. McCord, about 45, of El Dorado was killed when the automobile in which he was riding was involved in a three-automobile tieup on highway 79, three miles south of Magnolia.

Six other persons were injured, some severely but none apparently critically.

North Little Rock Police Capt. Harold W. Hunter, 47, was electrocuted accidentally while using an electric drill in making repairs under his home. He was found dead by Mrs. Hunter when she sought to summon him to the telephone. Hunter was the oldest member of the North Little Rock force in point of service, having served since 1927.

St. Louis, Aug. 31 — (AP) — A threat ended strike by 300 bus drivers which would have tied up operations of the Missouri Pacific transportation company in ten states has been averted, at least until the end of the year.

Negotiators reached a tentative agreement yesterday to go ahead with present wage rates until the end of the year. Details and wording of the agreement were to be worked out later.

R. J. McDermont, company vice president, announced the new agreement provides minor adjustments in working conditions. The company will be willing to reopen wage negotiations Jan. 1, he said.

The bus operators, members of the brotherhood of railway trainmen, had authorized a strike by a vote of about five to one, but no deadline had been set.

The drivers receive six cents a mile and had sought a wage boost of a half cent a mile.

The company normally operates 220 highway busses over about 5,200 miles of routes in ten states, and also has 200 daily schedules serving suburban residential areas in the Kansas City area.

Deere Steps Out, Charge Is Dropped

Malvern, Aug. 31 — (AP) — Ed Deere has agreed to step out as sheriff of Hot Spring county, and charges against him have been dropped.

Circuit Judge Roy Danuser yesterday dismissed indictments returned by a special grand jury against Deere on condition that Deere — already under suspension — resign.

The order set out that Deere had agreed Danuser ordered a copy of Deere's letter of resignation to Governor McMath filed with the court.

Indictments against Clarence McCarty, suspended deputy of Deere, also were dismissed. Like Deere, he immediately resigned.

Deere sought renomination while the charges were pending, but was defeated in the Democratic primaries by Tax Assessor Roy Traywick.

Deere first was indicted for allegedly neglecting to turn over confiscated liquor to the state revenue department. At that time he was relieved only of liquor law enforcement duties.

Later 35 additional counts charged false pretense and malfeasance, alleging Deere falsified claims against the county for

11 Hurt in Santa Fe Train Wreck

Lampasas, Tex., Aug. 31 (AP)—A Santa Fe passenger train left the rails in the predawn darkness early today. At least 11 persons were injured, none seriously.

"We were awfully lucky no one was killed or critically hurt," a spokesman for the railroads said. The diesel-powered train, making its regular run from Los Angeles to Houston, derailed in rolling country about 12 miles west of this central Texas town about 3 a. m. (CST).

Eleven injured were hospitalized. Several received only first aid treatment.

The injured were under treatment at Rolland Brooks hospital here and at the railroad's division headquarters hospital at Temple, Tex.

The injured mainly were from Texas.

A Santa Fe spokesman said the train, No. 76 due in Houston at 7:14 a. m. (CAT) was "making a reasonable rate of speed" at the time of derailment.

He said three sleepers left the rails but did not overturn, and that the chair car, diner, lounge car and "Jim Crow" car which carries Negro passengers left the rails and overturned.

Deputy Sheriff Henry Cunningham said the accident occurred in a sort of ravine where the roadbed had been built up at least 15 feet above the ground.

"It looked as if one side of the rails gave way. The track was torn up awful bad and for more than the full length of the train."

Ambulances from Lampasas and Mrs. Della Calhoun, Hope, Ark.

Admitted: Doyle D. Gathright, Saratoga.

Rain Hits the Midwest

By the Associated Press
Rain fell in areas over the eastern half of the country today as the weather prevailed throughout the Midwest and far west.

The tropical storm, which moved inland near Mobile, Ala., was attended by heavy rains over sections of Alabama and Mississippi. Heavy rain also hit north-west Florida yesterday and a tornado, apparently an off-shoot of the Gulf hurricane, struck Apalachicola, Fla. Two persons were seriously hurt and a dozen homes were wrecked. Damage from the hurricane was reported at Pensacola, Fla., with power and communications disrupted. Winds of 100 miles an hour struck Santa Rosa Island five miles offshore from Pensacola.

Other VA units were over the Great Lakes region and some showers were reported over sections of the north Atlantic states. Temperatures were above normal in the northern Rockies. But in other sections of the country they were variable due to widespread cloudiness and scattered rains.

Yanks Soar Into American League Lead

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Casey Stengel fell into a city bunker he would probably come up bawling an oil well.
The pushy pilot of the New York Yankees, who incidentally owns several oil wells, is one of the rangiest managers in the business. He also is a great guy for hunches.
Hunches that clicked helped the Yankees sweep a doubleheader from Cleveland yesterday and boost them to the top in the seething American league race.

The Yankees needed some clutch hitting by Johnny Mize, Phil Riz-zuto and Tommy Henrich. The fine pitching of Tom Ferric and Ed Lopat also played a large part in the 4-3 and 3-0 victories that gave them a one-game lead over the Detroit Tigers.

But if Casey hadn't followed his hunches those things might never have happened.
Until an hour before play began, Stengel wasn't sure whether he was going to play Mize at first base. Then Stengel recalled that Mize had hit a couple of homers off
Bob Feller, who was due to pitch for Cleveland in the opener.

All the former Giant slugger did was slam a pair of homers, one in each game. He also collected two singles and drew the walk in the eighth inning that eventually turned out to be the winning run.
Hunch No. 2 came in 61-eighth inning of the first game. Eddie Ford, the little lefthander, was shaken up in a collision with Cleveland's Luke Easter.

Stengel thought Ford was favoring his right side. He promptly replaced Ford with Tom Ferric.
The veteran reliever proceeded to stop the Indians' cold the rest of the way as the Yankees broke a 3-3 tie in their half of the eighth.
Hunch No. 3 came in the same bottom half of the eighth. Mize had walked. Stengel sent in Joe Collins as a pinch runner. After Hank Bauer fled out, Collins stole second.
That necessitated an intentional pass to set up a possible double play. Casey sent in Henrich as a pinch hitter, and he singled to score
Collins with the winning run.

Stengel didn't need to resort to hunches in the second game as Eddie Lopat throttled the Tribe with six singles. It was Lopat's fifth straight over Cleveland this season.

The Yanks one game margin was accomplished when Washington's Senators held the slumping Tigers to a split in their doubleheader. The Senators won the opener in 11 innings, 3-2, when Sam Dente singled off Fred Hutchinson to score Sam Mele. The Tigers had to tally three runs in the ninth to come from behind and win the second game, 10-8. Successive hits by Johnny Groth, Johnny Lipon, Gerry Priddy and Don Kolloway produced the runs.

It marked the first time the Tigers had been out of first place since June 10.
Boston's Red Sox stormed into third place, a game and a half in front of Cleveland, by whipping the Chicago White Sox, 6-1. It was Boston's 15th win in 16 starts.
Veteran Joe Dobson turned in his 14th victory.

Philadelphia's pennant-hungry Phillies increased their lead in the National to six and a half games over Brooklyn. The Phils rallied for three runs in the ninth to come from behind and nip the St. Louis Cardinals 9-8. Dick Whitman's pinch double with the bases loaded and Jimmy Bloodworth's scoring fly produced the three runs.
Jim Konstanty, in his 59th relief appearance, was credited with his 15th victory.

The Chicago Cubs downed the Dodgers, 6-5.
Vern Bickford coasted to his 17th triumph as the Boston Braves pounded out a 9-4 win over Cincinnati.

Sal Maglie pitched the New York Giants to a five-hit, 4-0 shutout over Pittsburgh. It was his eighth straight and his 13th victory against three defeats.
The St. Louis Browns shoved the Philadelphia Athletics into the American league cellar by taking both ends of their doubleheader, 2-1 and 7-6.

Hope Makes It 3 Straight Over Waldo

The Hope Legionnaires blasted seven runs off Paul Watkins in the first three innings and Gilson Ross came in the eighth to preserve a 10-8 victory over the Waldo Glants and shove the locals into the final playoff with the winner of the Camden and Mufreesboro series. Jack Bell unloaded a pair of home runs to lead the Hope hitting spree.

Hope won the series from the regular season winners in three straight games. Davil Ross opened the series in fine fasion by besting Jack McClendon 4-0 in Legion
Field Monday night. Tuesday night Hope came from behind in the top of the ninth frame to edge past the Giants 7-5. Last night Edsel Nix was the winner over Paul Watkins. Neither pitcher lasted the distance. Nix had to have help from Gilson Ross in the eighth. Nix had been shaky all the way and in only one frame the Waldo outfield did not threaten to score. Two consecutive singles put men on first and second and Gilson Ross came sauntering in to take over the hurling chores. The bases loaded up on a fielders choice error. Zolly Kenbell went down swinging and Buddy White sailed a peg to third to catch Pat Reynolds off there for a double play. Ross struck out Speedy Bradley to end the square and the big chance for Waldo.
The Hope playing manager sent the Giants down in order in the bottom of the ninth.

The hitting star of the night was Jack Bell of the Legionnaires who banged out four hits in five trips to the plate. The Hope right fielder batted in four runs with two singles and a brace of home runs.
Hope got to Paul Watkins in the top of the first inning — slaming four hits that netted a five run advantage for starter Edsel Nix.
In the bottom of the first H. I.
Watkins hit his second home run in as many games with a powerful drive over the right center field wall. In the second Waldo got back in the ball game following a score by Hope in the top of the frame.
Three costly errors and three hits

Needs No "BREAKING IN"

Later on Bill Horn parked a double off the left field signs with the bases loaded to drive in three runs and get Waldo back into the game at 7-6. But then Jack Bell came back for Hope offensively and garnered his second non-stopper of the night, this time with amate on to pull Hope out front at 9-8. Jack McClendon got in trouble and Bill Talbot came in to save the day and give only one run to the Legionnaires.

Russian Friendship Puzzles Iran

HENRY HEWITT

The Russian bear is making sounds of friendship with Iran, a strange switch of friendship, whether the "fields" are next on the list of conquest, or whether diplomats think the friendship is aimed at exorcising the disappointment of the loss of U. S. aid for Iran. It is seen as a smoke screen.

Ambassador Iven Sadchikov, called on Premier Ali Razavi to say his government was enthusiastically about making a barter deal with Iran.

Iranian diplomats here now discuss an Iranian invasion of Russia is willing to gamble on a third world war. They say the fact that there is no sound organized puppet government to take the rap for a move into Iran are reported to be only a hundred Iranian Kurds and Persians in Russia.

If Iran is invaded, these sources say it will have to be naked aggression by Soviet troops. Americans believe the anti-communist would never sanction a deal that would make Iran a Soviet puppet.

They are quietly encouraging Iran to take the red line temporarily — even a Iranian trade agreement. Iran is to gain time for the American aid to get to the show results. If and when American aid begins to be effective, Russia is expected to drop her latest friendship line with Iran.

Iran is one of the most important spots on Russia's border. The Persian Gulf oil pool is the last in the world. She has received an economic assistance from the U. S. military mission is here to train the Iranian army of 150,000 men now to use some $10,000,000 worth of American arms given in 1955. The state department, however, has refused to recommend grants to past governments because it feared corrupt officials would get the money.

U. S. Ambassador Henry F.

STILL ROLLING ALONG—Making good his promise to skate on his 32nd birthday, noted health culturist and publisher Bernarr Macfadden takes a spin on the Danville, N. Y., rink. Three-and-one-half-year-old Audrey Purdy is his pretty companion.

Grady thinks the tide has turned, however, with the recent appointment of Premier Razmara, former chief of staff of the army and a staunch anti-Communist. Razmara is known even to his political opponents as an honest man.

Although in office only a few weeks, he has shaken up Iran's graft-ridden bureaucracy, instituted tax measures aimed at the wealthy and professes a desire to cooperate with the United States in building up his country's economy.

American good intentions on economic help, however, are still to be demonstrated in concrete terms. Iranians greeted with some cynicism the Washington announcement, August 3 that the Import-Export bank was sending a mission to report on loan projects. American officials conceded that it would still be five or six months before any Import-Export bank loan would show results in tools and machinery landed in Iran.

Thus any trade deal that Russia may conclude with Iran is bound to be played up here by pro-communist elements.

Liquor, Women Available in Chicago Jail

Chicago, Aug. 31 — (AP) — Some prisoners at the big Cook county (Chicago) jail, says State's Attorney John S. Boyle, have been getting women, liquor, narcotics and fine food — by paying a few dollars to the right person.

Boyle termed the faml "rotten from top to bottom," and said a grand jury will investigate the "shocking conditions." Boyle said he had received a report from an assistant, James Condon, who has been investigating jail conditions since an escape plot was thwarted last month.

Col. Chester L. Fordney, the jail warden, said "conditions are not as bad as the state's attorney thinks." He added, however, it was "no secret" that narcotics and other items, knives, razor blades and hypodermic needles — have been smuggled into the jail. He denied that prisoners held trysts with women.

Fordney's superior, Sheriff Elmer Michael Walsh, a Republican, said that politics were behind the charge.

Boyle, a Democrat, said Condon told him that prisoners, by paying to a guard or a trusty, have entertained women visitors in a consultation cell near the main entrance.

Prisoners by paying $5 have been able to buy whiskey and narcotics, as well as steaks — not on the prison menu — Boyle said his assistant told him.

Boyle said some inmates paid 50 cents for stainless steel food trays from the jail hospital and pounded them into knives. He said such type of knives had been found among prisoners last month.

Condon also reported, Boyle said, that guards have smuggled prisoners any amount of money from the outside for a 20 per cent cut. Jail rules limit prisoners to $5 a week.

Fordney said there are 140 guard posts for the 1,250 prisoners and only 124 guards to man these posts. He said the smuggling of liquor and narcotics into the jail is "at a minimum. Any irregularities are traceable to lax or dishonest guards."

Dream Gold Pays Off in California

AP Newsfeatures
Frazier Park, Calif. — A retired construction worker and his wife are grubbing gold ore — some of it worth $240 a ton — from a shaft sunk almost 200 years ago by Spaniards and Indians.

Working his own mine is a dream come true for V. F. Baggett, 53, who worked 25 years in the construction department of 20th-Century Fox studios to save enough money to satisfy his ambition.

He took a three-year course in mineralogy before he headed into the hills for good. He staked his first claims in death valley before World War II, but had to abandon them when the Navy took over the area.

Then, through a Bureau of Mines official in Los Angeles, he heard a tale of lost mines on Frazier Mountain — 50 miles northwest of Los Angeles in the Los Padres national forest. Legend says that gold from these diggings supported and maintained several early Spanish missions. Baggett says one old timer told him Indians, bearing heavy ore baskets, trudged over the mountains to Santa Barbara and Ventura where the gold was loaded on ships. When white men followed the Indians home the redskins invariably disappeared.

Baggett staked claims, bought 300 acres of land and brought in machinery over mountain trails. Designating Mrs. B. as superintendent, one half the work crew and chief of the firework crew (he is allergic to dynamite), he started working the dump of one of the three known Spanish mines nearby.

After three months the couple unearthed the portal of the mine. Inside, they saw a shovel leaning against a rock. In fresh air the blade quickly disintegrated into a pile of rust, leaving only a curving hand-hewn handle.

At first it appeared the long-dead miners had removed all the high-grade ore. But as he followed the gold vein deep into the tunnel, Baggett noted that at one point the ore richened. He is now digging a new tunnel and bringing out dirt assaying $240 a ton — rich stuff. How much have they earned? Baggett prefers not to say. But he considers the $83,000 he's devoted to developing the mine well spent.

Credit Controls Expected by Furniture House

Little Rock, Aug. 30 (AP) — A Georgia furniture chain store executive expects controls on credit and installment buying within two or three weeks.

Clarence Haverty, Atlanta, president of the 32-store Haverty furniture stores, Inc., chain, said here today "there will be reimposition of what is known as regulation which will put reins on installment buying."

He predicted the controls will be under regulation of the federal reserve board and added "this is fortunate as it won't be under any alphabetical government bureau but will be handled by bankers and businessmen."

Haverty also said that "as price control, before the government invokes that, it should first control its own extravagance."

The chain president is here on a visit to the company's Little Rock store.

Paris Styles Reflect the Cold War

By FLORENCE MILLS
AP Newsfeatures

Paris — The cold war seems to have gone to the heads of most French dress designers for there's a definite Russian influence in the clothes they have created for fall and winter.

Last spring they had a Chinese fixation with mandarin coats and coolie hats. Now they are using cossack coats and tunics and lavish fur trimmings at every conceivable opportunity.

The three-quarter length cossack coat with its tightly belted waist and full flaring skirt seems the root of all inspiration.

Of course the designers take a lot of liberties with it. They add a bit here and take a bit away there, but it all adds up to Russian just the same.

Dior makes these tunic coats in heavy grey teddy bear and carapelle wool, worsted and tweed. He plunges up the hips with padding to give the silhouette the sort of curves Russian cossacks probably lack.

Fath, who strips the tunic of all fullness, and shows snaky-necked affairs that button from neck to hem, goes so far as to christen practically every one of the 300 fall models he has created, with such Russian names as Petroushka, Czarina and Rimsky.

His "Carina" is a box jacket of black Russian broadtail fur, speckled with diamonds and widely banded around the bottom with white ermine to match the collar and cuffs.

"Cossack" is one of the few wide-skirted tunics shown by Fath. Made in burnt orange wool, it had fullness roped into the waist with a wide black patent leather belt. Draped collar and were of black lamb.

Another designer, Jacques Griffe, goes for both full and straight skirted tunic, but combines them with immense collars which stand up to the ears and envelope the shoulders. He makes most of them of heavy English tweed.

A very flamboyant "Prince Igor" coat presented by designer Madeleine Vramant, is in crimson wool and modeled strictly on cossack lines. With it she teams a black and white dice check skirt and uses the same material for coat facings, collar and cuffs and even gloves.

The lavishness of fur trimmings, fur lined mantles and coats and the enormous "magnum" fur muffs produced by every designer this season, all help to conjure up visions of Catherine the Great and the opulence of the Czarist courts before the revolution.

THE news that Mrs. Muchmore had died and that I might have prevented it, except that my shoe lace had broken and I had fallen down a flight of stairs and landed in a hospital, brought back the bees in my head for a moment. When I straightened up again, Betsy Sharpe was talking:

"Aunt Myra's at the Muchmore house," she said. "She thought she could help."

"Let's go," I told Roger. Blessen. I was expecting Sally and a flock of orderlies and internes to come boiling out of the hospital in search of me, the runaway patient.

Roger stepped on the starter and in a couple of minutes we were safely away. Then I thought of something else. "Did the vet save her Pekinese—Ching?" I asked.

Roger shook his head. "Ching was dead before Mrs. Muchmore got him to Dr. Doan's place. She went straight from his place to her lawyers and it was all over town that I was going to be arrested. But she got sick."

Roger sighed from his shoe-strings. "Heaven knows if I'll ever be in the clear," he finished miserably.

I saw Betsy's hand tighten over his. "Doc can do something about it," she told him confidently. "Now that he's out of the hospital, he can find the person that's been poisoning those dogs."

I straightened my shoulders and set back with my chest out. I may not look like Sir Launcelot, but a fair lady had every faith that I could kill her personal dragon just as well as any roller-plated knight in full flower. It was something to know that Betsy relied on me—if she couldn't love me—I'd probably get over it in time, and Sally really did have nice blue eyes.

THE late Mrs. Muchmore's maid looked at us from a tear-swollen face as she answered a ring. Grace Muchmore had been a good old girl; when your servants love you that's a mighty good sign.

Catching a glimpse in the hall mirror of the white beehive I wore on my head and remembering that I was barefooted, I was surprised that the maid stared. But she showed us into the little parlor her dead mistress had called the morning room.

Miss Myra Sharpe turned quickly away from the desk as we came in. She gaped in astonishment when she saw me.

"Doc! Why, I thought you were in the hospital!"

"I'm all right. They let me out for an emergency." I gave Betsy and Roger a straight look that told them to keep their little traps shut, even if they believed that I had gone off my rocker, too.

"But your head—"

"That!" I tapped the beehive with a casual finger. "That's the new look in bandages." Then I got serious. "I was certainly sorry to hear about Mrs. Muchmore's death. It must have been a terrible shock to you, losing a friend so suddenly. I hate to come barging in at a time like this, but I had to see you."

Miss Myra looked surprised and so did Roger and Betsy. I went on earnestly:

"Do you remember those tablets I put up for your father last summer? Dr. James has a patient with a similar heart ailment now and when I want to give him some of those tablets—they're standard medication—I found I'm temporarily out of them. Of course, I inquired for more and they will come in on the afternoon train, but in the meantime let me have the rest of the tablets from the last prescription I filled for your father. It would be a real help. When I looked up the prescription I saw that I'd filled it for 50 tablets the day before the old gentleman died."

Miss Myra shook her head, but she tried to remember. "I can't recall that there were any tablets left after Father passed on—" She fiddled with the catch of her bag, then shook her head some more.

"Surely there were," I insisted. "The dose was only two a day."

"I suppose there must have been," but I don't remember. But I do remember that I threw away all the medicines when I cleaned up Father's room—afterward."

"Well, that's that," I shrugged my shoulders. "If you don't have them, you don't have them. I guess Doc James' patient will get along until the train comes in. But I thought it was worth trying to see if you had the tablets still."

I wandered aimlessly around the little morning room as I talked, fingering a pile of magazines, straightening the lid on the empty candy jar on the desk, peering into the waste basket.

"Why don't you want Betsy to get married?" I asked Miss Myra.

MISS MYRA stared at me with her mouth open so long I noticed that she was overly long in the tooth. I repeated the question.

"You certainly are acting queer," she said then, her voice tart. "I don't think you should be out of the hospital. I have no objection whatever to Betsy marrying. If it's any of your business!"

While Betsy and Roger stared at me, I told Miss Myra, "It is my business. Because I'm fond of Betsy . . . because I really want her to be happy. Why are you trying to break up Betsy and Roger?"

"Your choice of words is as unfortunate as your nosiness," Miss Myra said in a huff. "I'm not trying to break up Betsy and Roger. Then her voice became self-righteous. "But I would be doing less than my duty if I didn't point out to Betsy that she'd be making a mistake to marry a man of such violent temper and unpredictable actions—a man who could easily slip over the borderline into—"

Unpaid Film Stars Love Playhouse

AP Newsfeatures
La Jolla, Calif. — It's almost against the law to hurry here but the people do get out and around on the quiet summer evenings.

They help support the La Jolla Playhouse — America's only legitimate theater project-owned, managed, financed and operated by a group of nationally-known professional actors.

Top man in the organization is Gregory Peck, a La Jolla boy who made good in Hollywood and elsewhere. La Jolla Playhouse, Inc., boasts two other Hollywood stars — Dorothy McGuire and Mel Ferrer.

This is their fourth season. The normal high-salaried talent of the casts — names that have been in bright-lights of huge marquees all over the country — work for love of their art at La Jolla high school auditorium.

Among those who have performed there during the previous three years include the late Jane Cowl, Ann Harding, Lorraine Day, Martha Scott, Eva Arden, Barry Sullivan, Ruth Hussey, Guy Madison, Diana Lynn, Sylvia Sydney, Reginald Denny, John Ireland, Richard Baschard and others of national note in their profession.

The mounters wanted a west coast summer stage to carry on the tradition of the legitimate theater and to give at least one new play a tryout each season.

La Jolla was chosen because it was near to Hollywood homes of most of the talent (three hours by automobile) but not too near; because it was a wealthy village-like district of the city of San Diego; because its many wealthy retired residents and summer tourists offered a likely public and because it was Peck's hometown.

David O. Selznick, the movie producer, loaned $15,000 to start the project.

Last year the Playhouse got into the black for the first time with an operating profit and was able to pay off half the Selznick loan. Further reduction of that debt seems certain this year.

Inspired by last year's success and this season's prospects, Peck, Miss McGuire and Ferrer participated in organization of another

Volcanoes

The great volcanic activity in the world today is in the rugged mountains of the Kamchatka Peninsula. Scientists are predicting that the great eruption that will take place in the big volcano, Mount Pavlov, will be a "Bomb" seem like the great eruption of Mount Fuji in 1816.

The great volcanic activity has been observed during the past month. The length of the 800-foot peninsula, beneath the sea, is a volcanic area. The great eruption of Mount Pavlov, which is a "Bomb" seem like the great eruption of Mount Fuji in 1816.

RED TALES IN THE RUNDSCHAU—This reproduction of a page from the Soviet-sponsored German newspaper "Rundschau" purportedly shows atrocities committed in Korea by American troops. In the top picture, seven men are posed by soldiers wearing American M1 helmets. In the center photograph, a dead Korean woman is curled up with the body of her slain infant in her arms. Picture at left, below, purports to show a North Korean partisan being led to the rear by two American soldiers, one of whom is twisting the Communist's arm. At lower right, a young Korean girl is tied to a post with a target dot over her breast. The caption for this last picture reads: "This innocent young Korean girl serves the murderers as a living target." The accompanying story, stated that all the pictures were taken from the pockets of an "American military attaché in Seoul."

equipped with seismographs to detect the initial rumblings deep in the earth, gravity meters, and other sensitive machines, they will attempt to predict the next big eruption.

Fair Warning Expected

One group with the Geological Survey visits various remote volcanic islands by boat from Dutch Harbor. Two of the world's foremost volcanologists, Dr. Thomas A. Jagger and Dr. Howell Williams have concerned themselves with the Alaskan volcanoes. They believe the cones in the north seldom erupt without warning. Usually the explosive upheaval is preceded by smoking and rumbling deep within the mountain.

This is the first time such pronounced activity has been noted since July 23, 1945, when Mount Tullik, Alaska's largest active volcano, threw the Umanak Island Army Base into an uproar. Although the base was 60 miles from the crater, detailed evacuation plans were made when the volcano erupted. The eruption was preceded by a roar. Planes flying the Aleutian route were unable to approach the mountain of Mount Tullik. Lumps of volcanic ash heated to 1,000 degrees centigrade were shot 1,000 feet into the air above the eight mile wide crater. Ships in nearby Chernofski Bay prepared to put out to sea.

It Was Quite a Scare

Fortunately the Army base was not harmed by the waves of lava that boiled down from the cone. While it was still active, a crew headed by Lt. Ray E. Wilcox, former geology professor of the University of Wisconsin, conducted a close up study and advised that the lava flow presented no immediate danger. Today the cone still smokes, serving as a landmark for aircraft.

Other landmarks which may yet become portals to the molten core of the earth include stately Mount Shishaldin, 9,387 feet above the shores of Umanak Island, rising in a perfect cone and still active. The heart of the system apparently lies in the 3,000,000-acre Katmai National Monument. Today it is studded with active volcanoes such as Knif Mountain, Mount Mageik, Nocrupia Volcano and Martin Volcano. But its namesake, Mount Katmai, seems forever stilled. In its vast crater is a green lake eight miles in diameter. Yet it was the scene of the world's greatest eruption.

Natives' Cabins Buried

When Katmai erupted in 1912 the natives of the village of Sonovonki, forwarned by rumblings in the earth, fled to Naknek. Today their cabins are buried in ash, and only the roofs are visible from a plane. The eruption had closed the entire peninsula, depositing foot-deep layers of ash on ships at sea, smothering birds and wildlife and creating the famous Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes. Recent trips to the valley found fumaroles no longer steaming and breaches in the surrounding cones are now dormant. But other peaks in the area are acting up once again.

Although they believe the eruptions of Alaska's volcanic pressure belt looms in the near future, the experts see no cause for alarm. Following his survey, Collins said, "The Katmai area is the finest single place in the world for academic research. There is a tremendous variety of activity. But there is no special danger in allowing the public to see a volcano at work. In fact this year the monument area has been opened to the public for the first time."

Pavlov Is Watched

Attention is now focused on Pavlov. Twice before it has signaled eruptions. Villagers at Unga, over 60 miles away, were startled in 1922 when the night sky was split by flames shooting from Pavlov's cone. In 1937 again, it blew ash into the Aleutian winds. Since then like many dozens of peaks in the belt, it has been quiescent. Occasional rings of smoke and steam rise over the snowy slopes.

But this month experts are watching the mysterious peaks with renewed interest—wondering which will break from its murmuring crater with a new eruption. Instead of rushing away, as in Hawaii and more populous places adjacent to large volcanoes, the field crews in Alaska hope they can rush toward the eruption in time to record its activity. Although Katmai was the world's greatest blast, they recall, not a single person witnessed the eruption.

Just a Few of Thousands Upon Thousands of Interesting Records of Folks With Such Deficiencies Who Have Been Helped

Mrs. C. C. Keller, 1629 1/2 Frederick Avenue, St. Joseph, Missouri: Says HADACOL really has put a stop to her neuritis pains. She was in a very bad condition with aches and pains, and unable to sleep. She was forced to give up her position as a practical nurse. She had severe pains in her wrists and stiffness in her hips, being almost unable to walk. Now after taking one bottle of HADACOL, she is able to do her own housework. She most enthusiastically recommends HADACOL to all sufferers from neuritis pains.

Link Robinson (a steel worker for over 20 years), 519 Lindsey, Newport, Kentucky: "When your stomach is in bad shape as mine, couldn't eat, gas pains, stomach bloating and nervousness, then your body doesn't get the proper foods it needs. My boss told me about HADACOL and I started taking it immediately. After the second bottle I could tell a definite improvement. Now I can eat anything I want to. Best of all I haven't got those terrific gas pains and stomach bloating."

Mrs. John Geary, 840 Ursuline Street, New Orleans, Louisiana: "I had such a nervous stomach. I was unable to eat regularly. Lots of times I was unable to hold any food on my stomach. Then I heard about HADACOL. After the first few bottles I could tell a definite improvement. Now my stomach doesn't trouble me at all. I eat anything I want. HADACOL is wonderful. You can see that, if it did so much for me after suffering so."

Floyd Mabe, 14014 South 7th Street, St. Louis, Missouri: "For some time after a wartime injury I had been troubled with neuritis pains in my legs and could not work. Nothing seemed to help me until I tried HADACOL. After taking a half bottle, I seemed to feel better. My wife told me it was only my imagination, but I continued to take HADACOL and up to the present have taken 13 bottles. Now I feel fine with no more pains in my legs." (HADACOL is so effective because it relieves the REAL CAUSE of neuritis aches when due to such deficiencies. Why don't you give HADACOL a chance to help you?)

Mrs. L. Crifasi, 327 N. 14th Street, Springfield, Illinois: "I am elated with the wonderful results obtained by taking HADACOL. I had emotional indigestion, which is stomach distress and makes a person feel down and out. HADACOL seemed to be prepared for my ailment, for it made a new woman of me."

Mrs. J. Scieszinski, 514 Kruger, Ottumwa, Iowa: "My daughter, Marilyn Sue, is five years old and for some time lacked pep, had a poor appetite, was generally run-down. Since giving her HADACOL, we have noticed wonderful results. She has a much better appetite, eats everything on the table and doesn't seem tired like she used to. Incidentally, she likes to take her HADACOL, too." (Kids sure do like HADACOL.)

Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc—the Man Responsible for the Great New HADACOL

Now! Thanks to the tireless efforts in scientific research of Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc—eminent statesman of Louisiana and creator of this great new HADACOL nutritional formula—it's at last possible to relieve the REAL CAUSE of such ailments as neuritis pains, stomach distress, gas pains, heartburn, indigestion, insomnia, certain nervous disorders and a general run-down condition due to lack of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron and Niacin. Senator LeBlanc has just completed a modern $250,000 manufacturing plant and a similar one is well under way so that this wonderful HADACOL will always be available to the public.

New Leadership in Defense Asked by VFW

Chicago, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars today called for "new and competent leadership in the department of defense."

The 61st national encampment of the veterans group which had been expected to call for removal of Secretary Johnson, approved a resolution which did not name the secretary.

More than an hour of bitter debate preceded passage of the resolution with only five dissenting votes from the assemblage of 4,000 delegates.

The encampment, resolved to "condemn the disastrous and capricious policies of the department of defense which have brought our defenses to their present shameful and inadequate condition and call upon the President of the United States to seek out and appoint new and competent leadership in the department of defense."

Also ticketed for presentation to the encampment was a resolution asking Mr. Truman to discharge Secretary of State Acheson.

Formosa Jolted by Decision

Taipei, Formosa, Aug. 30 (AP)—The United Nations security council's decision to hear Red China's charges of American aggression against Formosa hit this Nationalist capital like a thunderbolt.

"The complaint of armed invasion is certainly without foundation in fact," said Foreign Minister George Yeh in a statement.

Karl L. Rankin, U. S. minister and charge d'affaires, called on Yeh. The subject of their talk was not disclosed.

Unofficial quarters declared (1) Soviet Russia has scored a great victory over the United States, and (2) none knew better than the Russians and Chinese Reds that the charge is ridiculous.

Some quarters asked why the Chinese Nationalist delegate, Dr. T. F. Tsiang, did not request placing the Nationalist charges of Soviet aggression against China on the security council agenda. These charges have never been placed on the council's agenda.

Commenting on Communist charges of American aggression Foreign Minister Yeh said:

"As the security council has kept its honor to permit this item to appear on the agenda, it will have to be considered. However, the armed invasion of the Republic of Korea should at any rate have priority of consideration."

It was suggested the Nationalists should refuse to permit a U. N. commission to visit Formosa, or at least until a similar group is allowed in Red China.

One authority suggested a U. N. commission visit to Nationalist military installations "would be the same as showing them to the Communist army."

KILLS THREE CHILDREN

Napoleon, O., Aug. 29 (AP)—Floyd Joseph Hefflinger, a 51-year-old painter, in a fit of despondency today shot and killed his three children and then took his own life. He shot at his wife Marjorie, 48, but missed her.

The children were Shirley, 15, Floyd, 3, and Joseph, 2. Coroner V. L. Johnson gave a verdict of murder and suicide due to despondency.

King Features Syndicate, Inc.
New York, Aug. 30 — The Korean war has emphasized the mortal enmity of communism and Communists toward our country. But actually nothing is changed. That enmity existed in 1933 when Roosevelt "recognized" the Kremlin. It is no worse today than it was at Potsdam. President Truman's recent request for laws to restrain and punish Communists is, in effect, an admission that he was too stupid to recognize the enemy as an enemy even on the basis of the enemy's unconditional declarations in his political literature. But it is also an attempt to take credit for initiative in fighting traitors, including many in his own administration as inherited from Roosevelt, who knew what he was doing when he opened the bureaucracy to them. He should not be allowed to get away with this.

It is hard to believe that Truman's excuse was just stupidity, for if he is that stupid we really are up against it. But the only alternative is to believe that he did know the nature of the oath-bound alien conspiracy against his country but, even so, obstructed the patriotic efforts of better Americans to root them out, all for the sake of the disloyal political party which calls him chief.

My own proposal that Communists and intentional fellow-travelers be put to death for acts of treason has startled even me. For long familiarity with traitorous conduct has established among us a tolerance of crimes incomparably more dangerous than the momentary individual cases of first-degree murder which provide the only clients of our hangmen. But, by a strange contradiction, we dig our heels in and move reluctantly toward capital punishment of criminals whose perfidy is premeditated for years and directed by a foreign nation. The traitor who helps the enemy to break the secret of the atom bomb does so hoping that he will contribute to the slaughter of masses of his countrymen, to the destruction of the United States and to the enslavement of all free people. He is not repentant but defiant.

Louis Waldman, a noted lawyer with long experience in union cases which, in New York, inevitably bring him into contact with communists, has sent to the leaders of both parties in congress a proposal which stops short of mine. He says Truman's proposals are "woefully inadequate but must be included in any comprehensive program." He would embody also the Mundt-Ferguson Republican proposal to require Communist organizations and fronts to register and name their sources of their income.

I will not try to discuss his recommendations, preferring to present members and officers and to reveal the mature judgments of a wise man who knows the subject

"LIVING LEGEND"—Air Force Major Dean Hess, right, of Marietta, O., seen conferring with Maj.-Gen. William Kean, commander of the 25th Infantry Division, has already become a legend among the troops fighting in Korea. Originally assigned to teach South Korean pilots how to fly American Mustangs, Hess soon became known for his daring exploits as he provided fantastically close air support for the 25th's ground operations. He has flown over 80 missions in the first two months of the war.

better than most of us and is known as a liberal in politics.

"The need for such legislation cannot be overstressed," Mr. Waldman wrote. "While I deny the ill-founded assertion that there is public hysteria on the question of communism today, there is great danger that the absence of legislation under which the government can take appropriate steps under law will lead to hysteria. I strongly urge that such legislation be incorporated in an omnibus bill, sponsored as a bipartisan measure."

While Americans are fighting and dying against Communist aggression in Korea there is no time for bickering as to who will get political credit for this legislation on the battlefield our fighting men are not divided into Republicans, Democrats, Liberals or Conservatives. At home there should be no such division, in or out of congress, on the question of fighting and defeating any Communist-controlled fifth column.

"In many states, the Communist party carries on its work through other political organizations, such as the Progressive party and, in New York, the American Labor party."

Mr. Waldman could have added and I think, would admit that in New York they also operate through the Democratic and Republican parties. The Republican party in the city of New York is actually a Communist front. No steps under Communists bear its label and work within the Republican party to keep the Democratic Communist party in office.

"Their political organizations are a mere transparent disguise for their Kremlin-directed activities," Mr. Waldman's letter continues.

"In proposing this omnibus law I want to emphasize that there is not a vestige of truth in the claim that the provisions of the Mundt-Ferguson bill are anti-labor. This is a false issue. Nor, in my opinion, would the inclusion of the Mundt-Ferguson bill, as I urged above, violate civil liberties."

"The reason for immediate action is that the Communists have turned their cold war against us into an actual war. This Korean war is not one of nation against nation. It is but a single and tragic manifestation of the general war that Communists throughout the world, including those in our own country, are waging against us as a nation, as a people and as a civilization. Our enemy, therefore, is communism and Communists, wherever they may be, in whatever nation they are born. The fight against communism is not divisible. We cannot call on our sons to die resisting Communist aggression in Korea and fail to combat Communist fifth-column activities at home."

Only seven World Series games have been played in Cleveland, the lowest total of any major league city.

Your Fortune Is in Your Feet

BY SAUL PETT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

New York — I had my fortune told by a lady who read my feet. Now, what's so funny? After all, sole reading is just as legitimate as palm reading. True, it tickles more. But it involves the same life lines and heart lines and head lines and bumps up in reading character and the future from a hand.

For example, I have a lot of Venus on the bottoms of my feet just as I do in my palms. This means I'm loving, warm-hearted and a good family man. That's what Carmelita said.

Carmelita is a dark, attractive, Spanish-born lady who reads palms nightly in the Coq Rouge, a night club. Privately, she reads feet, too. She says this is an old Chinese custom and every bit as accurate as hand analysis.

So I took off my shoes and socks. Carmelita used a small flashlight. She handled my feet very delicately. She didn't actually tickle. I imagined she did. My tootsies were tense.

Carmelita began with my left foot. On right-handed and right-footed people, she explained, the left foot "contains the true self; it's the foot which tells the right foot what will take place." The right foot, it seems, just carries out the orders.

Carmelita studied my left foot and appeared delighted.

"Ah," she said, "you have more Venus than I thought. But then you're critical and analytical, too. Your little toe is very long. That gives you a certain astuteness which your face doesn't show."

"Really?"

"Yes. And your Mercury pads show you inherited a lot of intuition. You should use it more."

Carmelita paused and frowned. "This concerns a great emotional conflict," she said, "which has occurred in the last five years or will take place in the very near future. It has or will change your whole personality. But your critical toe tips restrain you from using your intuition more."

"You're more sensitive than I thought. You have suppressed your introspective nature. That is shown in the middle toe. The pad is so prominent it lends force to your type. It's so big I'm surprised you don't have a corn there."

Carmelita switched to my right foot.

"You have become too cautious. Your destiny line is beautiful but broken. You see it? It crossed the other three lines near the center of your foot. You must dare more. Fate is with you. You will succeed."

"But watch your health between 57 and 59. There is a warning for that period and you must watch your health. Then, but there's nothing fatal. Your life line is long. And here we have the complex you. You have your neurosis like many people, but you know the nature of them. You're not the type to rush to a psychoanalyst. Your heel indicates that. It's clear and clean. No lines. That means your subconscious is clear."

"You will have three careers. The first will involve your mind and your hands. The second will be an opportunity to teach others. The third will be forced on you by circumstances. You will have to travel far since your right little toe is longer than the left. As we gain experience, this little toe grows. But you will come back safely."

Sheepishly, I asked about women.

"There will be a second woman," Carmelita said. "But her status is not yet clear. Notice the little triangle between your life, head and heart lines. You know, I like your right foot better than your left. If you had followed the left, you would have been terribly hurt. And the hair on your feet. That indicates great moral strength. True, you're unconventional but you have your own principles and you will never violate them."

I thanked Carmelita and put on my socks and shoes. I left on tip-toe, anxious not to abuse my two little prophets.

Bruce Alford, New York Bulldogs, end, flew 35 missions as an Eighth Air Force pilot.

A total of 78 World Series games have been played in New York more than twice as many as in Chicago, second-ranking city.

DOROTHY DIX

Guide to Character

Dear Miss Dix: I am a young man just out of high school and I am in deep trouble. About a week ago I forgot what I was doing and asked a girl to marry me and she accepted at once. Now after considering the matter I have decided that we should wait a few years before we get married, but the girl demands that I marry her immediately. I have no job, only a small amount of money, and, besides, I want a better education than I have. She says if I don't marry her now she will make trouble for me. Please, tell me what to do.

Answer: Perhaps not absolutely, but you can make a mighty good guess, because a girl expresses herself more completely by the way she dresses than in any other manner.

If she wore spike-heeled shoes (since you have raised that issue) to work where she had to stand on her feet all day, or to climb a mountain, as I have seen a girl do, or on hikes, I would know that vanity was her leading characteristic and that she was willing to suffer any torture for the sake of her looks. I would also know that she was impractical and lacking in a sense of fitness, and that she would make one of the wives who spend all that their husbands make on keeping up appearances and who skimp the family to give spurious entertainments.

Do Clothes Cost Too Much? I would notice whether a girl dressed beyond her means. If she did, I should know that she was clothes-mad and extravagant and that her husband would be sold in bondage to specialty shops and millinery stores.

I would observe whether she was clean and neat or not; whether her shoes were polished, her stockings on straight, her neckwear immaculate, her hair well combed, for thereby I should know whether her house, when she married would be tidy and orderly, or a place of confusion with unswept floors and unmade beds, with everything at sixes and sevens.

I should notice whether she was appropriately dressed or not. If she always had on the right thing, I would know that she would make the kind of wife on whose good sense and taste her husband could still get his social security benefit no matter how much he earns.

Under the new law a beneficiary who works in a covered job can earn up to $50 a month before the payment is suspended. A beneficiary could still work in a non-covered job without limit on his earnings.

Any beneficiary who is 75 or older can work in any kind of job, covered or uncovered, and

Dear Miss Dix: Please settle this argument: Can you judge a girl by her dress? Can you tell what is in a woman's head by the kind of heels on her shoes?

S. K.

Answer: It is too bad you didn't think before you spoke. That kind of carelessness in asking women to marry them in a forgetful moment has got a lot of men into trouble. The thing for you to do is as plain as the nose on your face. It is to tell the girl up and down that you withdraw your proposal and that you don't intend to marry her now or ever. For any girl who tries to force a man against his will into a marriage is not the sort of woman he wants for a wife.

You can't imagine a girl who loved a boy being willing to ruin his whole life by forcing him to marry her when he had no job, when he was too young to know his own mind and was in no way fitted for the responsibilities of marriage.

So stiffen your backbone and refuse to be dragged to the altar. Don't let her scare you with her threats of making trouble for you. There is not a thing on earth she can do to you. Just let her rave.

Dear Miss Dix: I have a grown daughter who is my own flesh and blood and whom I nearly died bringing into the world, who persists in believing and asserting that she is an adopted child in spite of the evidence of her baptismal certificate and the testimony of people who have known her since she was a child. She treats me as if I were a stranger and is always snapping at me and makes me so unhappy that I shall never go to her house again. Why is this?

Answer: It is a common thing for children to imagine that they have been adopted, or that they were stolen, and to play a game with themselves in which they fancy that they are the longest child of some person of high degree and great wealth. Your daughter must have a child's mind to be deluding herself with such absurd

I would notice whether a girl wore the colors that flattered her, the lines that brought out her good points and camouflaged the bad ones, whether she combed her hair the right way or the wrong way. I would notice whether she carried herself 5 per cent above her looks or 60 per cent under them and that would give me a mighty good line on how much intelligence and initiative she had, and whether she would make the best of whatever opportunities she had in life, or just go down before every hard knock without ever putting up a fight.

Oh, there are mighty few things you can't learn about a girl if you will give her clothes the once-over.

Chicago—Author Nelson Algren lives in a ten-dollar-a-month flat in a Chicago factory district.

He doesn't have to. His latest book, "The Man With the Golden Arm," brought him enough fame and fortune to warrant a move to the other side of the tracks.

The book won an American industry award for distinguished work. A selection of a book club, it also is being made into a movie and Algren is writing the dialogue for the shooting script.

Second Floor Flat
Algren's small second floor flat is in the back part of a two-house lot northwest of the loop. It vibrates in rhythm with the rumble of passing freight trains. Seated amid stacks of books and surrounded by the paraphernalia of writing, Algren says he has no intention of deserting the slum for a penthouse.

He expressed the fear that moving to a swank spot on the north side might be too distracting.

"There are too many phonies living what they think is a very Bohemian life," he says. "For someone who wants to do serious work that sort of thing only encroaches on his time."

Has Roots There
Time apparently is of great importance to the 41-year-old novelist. He has an unlisted telephone number known only to a small group of friends. And the neighborhood where he lives, with its broken sidewalks and general shabbiness, is uninviting.

It is in this neighborhood that he says "I have my roots." At least it puts him within easy reach of the people he writes about.

His books chronicle the lives of dope addicts, prostitutes, burglars, hard-as-nails cops and cops looking for a pay-off. "Golden Arm" has as its protagonist a card dealer who becomes addicted to dope.

"Never Come Morning" dealt with a prostitute. His other two works, "Neon Wilderness," a collection of short stories, and "Somebody in Boots," his first novel written in 1935, were focused on life along Chicago's Division street, Madison street and South State street.

Down Under People
Life there, Algren says, is subcommunity.

"There's no room for these people," he says. "They live on the edge of life with the prospect that it will end now — not today or tomorrow, but now. And on top of them, keeping them down, sits a great heavy middle class society."

His books, he said in an interview, are written with the motive of "bruising the complacency of the squares, the smug white-collared, righteous, church-going citizens. I want the middle class to be conscious of the world underneath."

Ceramic mosaic tiles, the small units used widely today for bathroom floors, were first manufactured in the United States about a half a century ago.

Form Folks Come Under New SS Law

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Aug. 31. (AP)—People employed on farms—but not farm-owners or operators—come under the social security program, starting Jan. 1, 1951.

The program is intended to protect regular farm employees so that if they work at farming long enough, they can get a pension at 65 or, if they die, benefits for their survivors.

In fact, this program will work best for those who stay steadily with one employer. It penalizes those who shift around, changing employers. Why?

Because every time a farm worker goes to work for a new boss, he must work approximately two quarters to get credit for one toward his pension. This will explain the rules, but first remember:

A quarter is a three-month period. There are four such quarters in a year: January-February-March (1st quarter); April-May-June (2nd quarter); July-August-

POSTMASTERS NAMED

Washington, Aug. 30. (AP)—President Truman has sent to the Senate these postmaster nominations for Arkansas:

Alfred Wade Bishop, of Lincoln, Ark., to succeed Walter Finley, resigned.

Elmer Peter Blanton, of Marked Tree, Ark., to succeed R. E. Pace Jr., resigned.

September (3rd quarter); and October-November-December (4th quarter).

Here is the rule for a farm worker to get social security credit:

1. He must, starting out, work continuously for one employer for one quarter, for which he gets no credit toward a pension and there fore is not taxed. This is simply a preliminary quarter.

2. Then, after putting in his preliminary quarter, a man must work for the same employer at least 60 days out of the next quarter.

3. And his pay must be at least $50 a quarter, in cash.

4. If he meets all three requirements, then he gets credit for one quarter—but only one—the one in which he worked 60 days, following that preliminary quarter.

After that he gets credit for each quarter in which he works at least 60 days. Suppose he fails to work that much in some subsequent quarter. He'll get credit for that one, too, but then he must start the whole business over again. Here's an illustration:

Jones goes to work for Smith in the first quarter of 1951. He works that quarter and 60 days of the second quarter, earning at least $50 a quarter.

For that first, or preliminary, quarter Jones gets no credit toward the total number of quarters he'll eventually need to get a pension. But he gets credit for the second quarter.

In the third quarter of 1951 Jones fails to work at least 60 days.

He gets credit for it, just the same. But—then the whole thing starts over again, just as if he were going to work for a new boss.

He works the fourth quarter of 1951 (which won't count toward his credit because it has now become only a preliminary quarter) and then works the first quarter of 1952, working at least 60 days. He gets credit for that first quarter of 1952.

You can see what this means: If Jones works two quarters (six months) for Smith and gets credit only for the second quarter and switches over to Brown, Jones has to start all over again, working a preliminary quarter, then 60 days in the next one and gets credit only for that second one.

Once a worker gets credit for a quarter, of course, he never loses it. It stays in his record. Next time he gets credit for a quarter, it's added to the first one. But, since he'll need a minimum number of quarters to get a pension, the fewer he had, the less his chance for a pension.

Note: any regularly employed farm worker who works continuously for one employer through the fourth quarter of this year and then works at least 60 days in the first quarter of 1951 will get credit for that first quarter of 1951. Since the program for farm workers starts Jan. 1, 1951, he can count the last quarter in 1950 as his preliminary quarter.

Since no farm worker comes under the program until Jan. 1, 1951, no worker or farm-owner has to pay any social security tax till the end of the first quarter in 1951.

The tax is on the first $3,600 of a worker's pay: 1 1/2 percent paid by the worker, 1 1/2 percent paid by the employer. Total tax: three percent.

The employer is responsible under the law for turning this tax into the government at the end of every quarter. He'll make the return on the same kind of form used by employers in other businesses. The government will explain the details for farmers later.

But here's an example: Jones earns $100 a quarter on Smith's farm. The tax on Jones is $1.50, on Smith $1.50. Smith takes the 1.50 out of Jones' pay, adds 1.50 of his own money, and turns it in.

Who's excluded from the program? Any farm-owner or operator. For example: Smith works a farm on shares. He's excluded. But if he hires Jones to help him and outlined above, Jones is in.

What kind of farm worker is covered? Everybody who is employed regularly on a farm and meets the three conditions. For example:

The field hand; the man who creates the farmer's vegetables for market; the man whose job is keeping the machinery repaired (but not someone called in for an occasional repair job); and domestic servants in a farm home, like cooks.

(There's another new program which covers domestic servants in non-farm is but farm servants are not under that program. They're grouped with farm workers.)

But practically everybody connected with farm work—on or off the farm—is now under social security. For example:

Until now people employed in canneries—commercial canneries, putting up farm products—were classed as farm workers and so were not under social security.

Now they are no longer considered farm workers. But since that automatically makes them employees in commerce or industry, they come under social security.

They'll come under it through the rules that govern other industrial workers, like men in an auto plant, but not as farm workers.

There may be some borderline cases where the employee or the employer isn't sure whether social security applies to his case. He should check at once with his nearest social security office.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait. Try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

They look alike...they work alike... But there is one big difference

This telephone...
installed three years ago...
had $223 worth of poles, wire, switchboards, and other facilities behind it to make it work.

This telephone...
installed last year...took $412 worth of added plant to make it work.
REASON... higher prices for materials and labor.

Every new telephone installed in Arkansas will keep on reducing the rate of earnings...already less than two cents on each dollar invested in telephone plant.

That's why it is so extremely important that rates be increased before we can turn on the green light and go ahead with the $38 million Greater Arkansas Telephone Program. This money must come from the savings of people willing to invest in telephone securities. And they won't put up the money unless they see prospects for reasonable earnings. Would you?
